DISPOSITION OF FUNDS IN DOUBT

Township Trustees Speculate As to Their Control Over the Unimproved Highways.

CONFLICTS IN LAWS FOUND

County Unit Act Provides That All Road Money Shall Be Turned Over to Commissioners.

The county auditor, commissioners and township trustees in Jackson county are trying to unravel apparent tangles in the new road laws which were enacted by the recent legislature. The confusion that exists in this county has also developed in other counties and recently the attorney general was asked to give a ruling on fourteen points which were presented. He gave a ruling the first of this week on these points with the result that his opinions only added to the confusion already existing.

The county unit road act provides that all township road funds shall be turned over to the county commissioners and shall be placed in the gravel road maintenance and repair fund. Some of the township trustees argue that this is in conflict with the Beardsley law which provides that the trustees shall have certain control and supervision over the dirt roads in their townships.

Section 2 of the county unit road act reads: "All public highways, bridges or culverts in the counties in this state shall after the passage of this act, be under the supervision, management and control of the board of commissioners of the several counties except as set out in section 1 of this act. The duties heretofore prescribed to be performed by the township trustees shall hereafter be performed by the board of commissioners of the county, and all control of highways, bridges and culverts by township officers is hereby abolished. All unexpended money of the township road fund or levies therefor shall immediately after the passage of this act be certified by the township trustee to the auditor and transferred by him to the free gravel road maintenance and repair fund."

Under this section, it is pointed out, all money for unimproved road repair held by the trustees must be turned over to the auditor to be expended under the supervision of the commissioners. The attorney general has ruled that the trustees may build bridges that are not more than twenty feet in length, but if they turn over all money to the commissioners, it is quite apparent that they would have no funds with which to do this work.

The attorney general also ruled that the money from each township must be kept separate. For instance all money for unimproved road repairs raised in Jackson township must be kept separate and apart from the money in Redding or Salt Creek townships and all of such levies must be expended in the township where they are made. The attorney-general ruled that the township trustee may retain the road machinery he now holds but that it must be worked under the supervision of the commissioners.

If the commissioners through the county highway superintendent, has charge of unimproved roads in the county, the supervisors who now work under the trustees will be thrown out of work. The assistant road superintendents appointed by the county highway superintendent would look after such repairs in the future.

O. O. Swails, county attorney, stated that there are a number of conflicts that must be cleared up before a definite decision can be given as to the final disposition of the money. The supreme court may be asked to give an opinion on some of the important points involved.

One feature of the new law is that road taxes cannot be "worked out" in the future, but must be paid in cash, the same as other levies.

COUNTY SCHOOLS COMPLETING WORK

Classes Have Already Adjourned for the Summer Vacation in a Few Districts.

SOME TO MAKE UP LOST TIME

Seymour Public Schools Will Remain in Session Longer Than Usual, Closing June 13.

The district schools throughout Jackson county are rapidly closing up their year's work and a few of them have already adjourned for the long summer vacation. The Washington township schools and the Farmington school in Jackson township, have already completed the winter term and quite a number of the others will close during the coming week.

The district schools close at different times, depending on the amount of money available. The districts have different amounts to spend on their schools and for this reason some district schools adjourn for the summer vacation before others. Another factor that affected the closing date this year was the time lost during the fall and winter on account of the influenza epidemics. Some of the schools were closed for two months while others adjourned for only a month.

In some places this time was made up by holding classes on Saturdays. The matter was left entirely to the teachers as the state board of education ruled that the teachers should be paid full time while the classes were temporarily adjourned. However, most of the

PYTHIANS OF TWO DISTRICTS MEET

Interesting Sessions Conducted at Vice-Chairman of the Former Organization Appointed Chairman for Jackson County.

ADDRESS BY CHAS. PULLIAN
Practically Every Lodge in Twentieth and Thirtieth Districts Represented at Meeting.

The district meeting of the twenty-ninth and thirtieth districts, of Knights of Pythians held in this city Tuesday afternoon and night, was largely attended and proved to be one of great interest and enthusiasm. With but few exceptions every lodge in the two districts was represented. The afternoon meeting was an open session presided over by Past Grand Chancellor Judge John M. Lewis, and the following program was highly appreciated by those present:

Music, Orchestra; song, "America"; Audience; vocal duet, Mrs. Arthur P. Carter and Mrs. Roeger Carter, with Miss Anna Holland Carter as pianist; paper, "Pythian Sisters", Mrs. David A. Baird; mandolin solo, Miss Magdalena Kasperlain, accompanied by Miss Anna Holland Carter; reading, Mrs. R. A. Cox; saxophone solo, Kermit Goodwin; address, Judge Chas. J. Orbison, of Indianapolis; music, orchestra; short talks by Grand Chancellor Judge Charles Pullian, of Terre Haute, and G. K. of R. S., Robert Brown, of Indianapolis.

The members of Success Temple No. 310 of Seymour attended the meeting in a body. A social hour followed the session. The meeting in the evening was one of business pertaining to the order, under the auspices of Hermon Lodge No. 44 of this city and Castle Hall was crowded to its capacity. The ritualistic work was beautifully exemplified and highly complimented. A large number of visitors from a distance were present and thoroughly enjoyed the meeting.

The grand officers attending were Grand Chancellor Charles Pullian, of Terre Haute, and Grand Keeper of Records and Seals Robert Brown, of Indianapolis.

Much credit is due D. G. C. Clifford R. Jackson and the committee in charge for the success of the meeting and especially the decorating committee for the taste displayed. The local order have room to be proud of their hall which is conceded to be one of the neatest and most fully equipped in the state.

L. C. GRIFFITHS TO DIRECT NEW LOAN

Organization Appointed Chairman for Jackson County.

PLANS ALREADY CONSIDERED
Tentative Program Calls for Great Homecoming of Jackson County Soldiers in This City.

L. C. Griffiths has been notified of his appointment as chairman of the Jackson county organization for the Victory Loan campaign which will open April 21. He was vice-chairman of the former organization which did such excellent work in this county and was instrumental in establishing for Jackson county the record of "the first in war work."

Mr. Griffiths will give attention to his organization within a short time. The same plan of having chairmen for the various subdivisions which has been followed in the past will be used again in the Victory campaign. Mr. Griffiths was the head of the Jackson county War Savings organization and was instrumental in the organization of the county which did such efficient work in the War savings, Red Cross and Liberty loan drives which were conducted during the last year.

For some time the suggestion that a homecoming and reception be given for the Jackson county soldiers who have returned has been under consideration and Mr. Griffiths is anxious to link up this reception with the opening of the Victory drive. It is estimated that there are approximately five or six hundred returned soldiers in the county. Elaborate plans for a celebration and reception in their honor are being considered.

It is suggested that the men march through the streets in a parade and that a dinner be given for them. During the afternoon a speaker will give an address on the purposes of the Victory loan campaign. It is the intention of the organization, Mr. Griffiths said, to have meetings throughout the county, such as were held last spring, and local soldiers will be asked to make addresses at these gatherings.

Those who have given attention to the Victory loan drive believe that the county can raise its quota as quickly as it has done in the past. The bonds or notes in the next campaign.

GENERAL STRIKE IN GERMANY GROWS

Clashes Have Occurred Between Soldiers and Workers in Various Cities.

INSPIRED BY SPARTACANS

Indications Point to Preparations for a Third General Revolution —Riots in Frankfurt.

By United Press.
Berlin, April 2—The general strike is spreading throughout Germany. Clashes have occurred between workers and troops in various cities resulting in casualties. Indications are growing that the uprisings are inspired by the Spartacans who are believed to be employing these disturbances to weaken the government, preparatory to declaring a third revolution.

The government has proclaimed a state of seige in the whole of the Rhineland, defying the 50,000 miners and strikers there. The situation in that region endangers food shipments and the coal supply.

During riots in Frankfurt, mobs stormed several food shops. Three persons were killed and many wounded by rifle and machine gun fire. The mob then attacked the police station and a number of hotels. The government troops now control the city.

Wurttemberg and several other cities have joined in the general strike.

MISS AMELIA PLATTER IS HONORED BY SHORTRIDGE
Cited for Distinguished Service on Faculty of That School for Thirty-six Years.

Miss Amelia Waring Platter, of this city, who has been a member of the faculty of the Shortridge high school, Indianapolis, for thirty-six years, has been cited for distinguished service. Four other teachers at Shortridge received the same citation. A banquet was held in honor of the teachers. The citation is signed by "George IV". George Buck is the principal of the school and is the fourth whose name is George.

The citation is as follows:

Headquarters Camp Shortridge
March 26, 1919
Special Order No. 1
Citation for Distinguished Service
Laura Donnan, Angeline P. Carey, Roda Selleck, Amelia Waring Platter and Eugene Mueller, senior officers in the Shortridge army, whose distinguished services in the educational ranks have always warranted the highest approval, whose loyalty has been unquestioned, whose courage has never wavered, and who have never retired from active service in the ranks—a service extending through a score of years and more—these, one and all, are commended for said unparalleled devotion to duty and to the welfare of the youth of Indianapolis, and these same are hereby recommended for membership in the ranks of the Shortridge Immortals.

As a direct result of efforts such as yours, the grand old institution which you represent and which we love so well, is known throughout the land as a "school of many virtues, ranked among the best."

Your devotion to its interests, your faith in a broad education as a foundation for culture and good citizenship, your insistence upon character as the summum bonum in life—these and many other influences will linger in the memories of Shortridge forever.

As an honor well deserved, as a prize well won, these colors of pure white and true blue, Shortridge colors, are presented. Wear them as a tribute from the school you have so nobly served, and receive this citation with all the honor it confers.

PROPOSAL MADE TO END HOSTILITIES

Lenine Said to Have Made Definite Proposition to Restore Peace in Russia.

FOOD SITUATION SERIOUS

Medical Men Say Typhus Fever is Spreading Westward From Russia.

By United Press.
Paris, April 2—There is now before the peace conference a definite and concrete proposal from the Russian government for cessation of hostilities. It bears Premier Lenine's signature. There is also evidence that Carl Kautsky, German radical, is now in Moscow, trying to arrange a formal alliance between Germany and Russia.

In the light of these two facts, the peace delegates are giving more thought to Russia than the daily official communications indicate. The greatest secrecy surrounds the Lenine document, but it is known that it offers a way to end hostilities between the Russian and British governments. The delegates believe it presents an opportunity to break the rapidly forming bolshevik front.

Another important factor is that medical men are becoming alarmed at the possible spread of the typhus epidemic westward from Russia. The death rate in Petrograd is 125 a day. There are 4,000 cases of spotted typhus in the city with eighteen deaths daily. The disease is increasing.

The food situation is still serious. The government has discontinued passenger traffic until April 10 to enable from sixty to one hundred carloads of food to be brought into Petrograd daily.

Beyond the written document Lenine is said to be ready to insure self government for all former Russian territories which wish to break away from the soviet government. Information now before the peace conference shows the Russian government is functioning, that railroads are running and that good orders prevail in the interior. The "red" army is said to now number more than a million, well armed men, under competent officers.

Allied financial representatives today will confer with the German financial mission which arrives yesterday. Soldiers and police are guarding the castle in which the Germans are quartered. The civilians there are unaware of their presence.

Wont Mr. Doozenberry be pleased when he gets the box of flannels for the heathens in Africa. Park Mission, Friday night.

Marriage License.
A marriage license was issued today at the County Clerk's office to Lewis Langhorst and Laura Myers, both of Jackson township.

The township trustees were in session this afternoon as the board of education. Several important matters pertaining to the county educational system and also to the trustees' office were discussed. The estimates for care of the township poor were filed and will be presented to the commissioners when they meet next Monday.

Announcements have been received here of the birth of a daughter on March 30 to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Emerich, of Indianapolis. Before her marriage Mrs. Emerich was Miss Edna Wallace, a sister of Charles H. Wallace, a local policeman.

Who Owns The Standard Oil Company? (Indiana)

THE Standard Oil Company of Indiana is a corporation owned by the people at large, doing for the people, to the best of its ability, a big job in a highly specialized branch of industry.

The ownership is spread over 4623 stockholders—2084 of them women—not one owning as much as ten per cent of the total.

The 30 million dollars of capital stock represents a cash investment of $117,509,465.00.

Contrary to popular opinion, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana is not a close corporation, owned and controlled by one or two rich men.

WATSON TO DISCUSS LEAGUE OF NATIONS PLAN

Senator to Speak at Richmond Tonight—Senator New to Make Tour.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, April 2—United States Senator James Eli Watson was expected to discuss the league of nations plan in a speech to be delivered here tonight. The address will be the first of a series to be delivered by Senator Watson and Harry S. New throughout the state. Neither has publicly declared his position on the league of nations but privately they are said to have taken critical attitude toward it.

Much interest accompanied the Watson address in view of the campaign which Former President William Howard Taft is planning to make through Indiana in favor of the league.

New was expected to attack certain parts of the proposed league with the assertion that if the objectionable features were removed he would approve the general idea. Watson will speak before a G. O. P. meeting.

M. E. CONFERENCE

Bishop Thomas Nicholson Presides at Meeting at Peru.

By United Press.

Peru, April 2—Protestant congregations of this city today entertained 700 visitors who came here to attend the Northern Indiana conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. The conference opened here today and will continue throughout the week.

Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Chicago presided at the meeting. He addressed the conference. Other speakers included:

Dr. Philip L. Frick, Indianapolis; Dr. Garland Penn, Cincinnati; Dr. George Elliott, Detroit; Samuel Small, Atlanta; Dr. W. S. Board, Chicago; C. W. Wade, Greencastle; Dr. John W. Hoffman, Delaware, O.; Prof. Charles F. Hanson, Indianapolis; Dr. Frank Gunsaulus, Chicago; Dr. Fred B. Fisher, New York; Dr. D. D. Forsythe, Philadelphia; William W. THOMPSON VICTOR IN CHICAGO MAYORALTY RACE

Republican Candidate Has Plurality of 17,500 Over Democratic Opponent.

By United Press.

Chicago, April 2—William Hale Thompson, Republican, was the victor today in his race for re-election as mayor of Chicago. He defeated Robert M. Sweitzer, democrat, in yesterday's election by 17,600 votes.

Maclay Hoyne independent, ran third, falling 129,390 votes behind Sweitzer.

Thompson was given 257,888 votes as against 240,288 for Sweitzer. Thompson's vote from the men was 159,883 and from the women 98,025. Sweitzer was given 147,248 votes and 93,040 by women.

John Fitzpatrick, candidate of the new labor party received 54,460 votes and John M. Collins, socialist, 23,105. Adolph Garm, socialist labor received 1,715 votes.

Eighty percent of the registered voters cast ballots.

The "wets" won a victory by an overwhelming majority. The "drys" had made no fight, asking why "a dead issue should have been revived."

Bonds of $11,300,000 for city improvements were voted by comfortable majorities.

Mayor Thompson gave out a statement in which he predicted a national republican victory as a result of the Chicago election. The vote here he said, was a protest against "democratic misrule and a vote of confidence in republican management."

The election was the second in which Sweitzer and Thompson had been opponents. In 1915 Thompson defeated Sweitzer by 147,447 votes.

With Thompson's election, ten republican aldermen gained seats in the city council chamber, while four sitting democratic aldermen were defeated.

The last hours of the election were marked by thousands of persons flocking into the loop district to hear the returns. In front of every newspaper office traffic was blocked for hours while uproarious spectators watched the bulletins.

DRINK TOAST TO JOHN BARLEYCORN WITH WATER

Temperance Workers Hold Celebration on First Anniversary of Prohibition Law.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, April 2—"Good Bye, John. You've gone never return."

With these words and a smile Indiana's dry federation today laid to rest the last John Barleycorn who died in Indiana at the hands of the general assembly and who will disappear as a national figure in July.

There were no flowers on John's bier. He did not look natural. He had shriveled to the size of a quart bottle and his internals had been removed as the remains lay in a casket at the Masonic Temple here today.

The occasion was the celebration of the first anniversary of prohibition in the state and jollification over ratification of the national prohibition amendment.

Six ministers acting as pallbearers and another leading the funeral procession to deliver the last rites were smiles and the eulogy differed radically from those usually heard at a funeral.

teachers desired to make up the time lost so that the complete courses prescribed for the year could be finished.

Most of the township schools will adjourn before the twentieth of this month. After the schools are closed the eighth grade pupils are given opportunity to take the examination which is given by the county superintendent and the graduation exercises are conducted during the summer after the reports on the examinations are made.

The Seymour public schools will not adjourn this year until June 13. The annual commencement exercises will be held on Thursday, June 12. This is the latest date that the commencement exercises have been held in recent years, but it is delayed on account of the time lost during the fall when the schools were closed because of the influenza epidemic. Saturday sessions were not deemed advisable here as many of the high school boys are employed on that day.

The graduating class this year numbers about fifty and is one of the largest in the history of the local schools. The seniors are already preparing for the festivities which are conducted during the last week and work has started on the class play and the publication of the Annual.

VISITS VILLAGE PARTLY DESTROYED BY GERMANS

Residents Were Locked in Homes While Invaders Applied the Torch to the Buildings.

The following letter has been received from Sergeant Harwood, who is in the 5th Division with the Army of Occupation:

Ethe, Belgium,
March 8, 1919.

Dear Friend:

Your letters of February 6 and 11 came to me on February 28th and I have been unable to reply at an earlier date on account of moving and getting settled. We left Differdange, Luxembourg, at 10:30 February 28 by train for Rehon, France, about three-fourths of a mile from Longway, France, reaching there about 2 p. m. I received your letters here but the next day the company was divided into two parts, one being sent here at Ethe, Belgium, and the other part remaining at Rehon, France, for guard duty. We came to Ethe by train about 3 miles ride to relieve part of Co. H, 61st Inf., who were doing guard.

The town of Ethe is a small village, partly destroyed by Germans in the first part of the war, even to the big church. Nothing remains of the church but the walls, no roof or windows and the walls are badly banged up. When the Germans entered this town, according to the people, they would lock the people up in their homes and set fire to the houses. And later they took a total of 264 civilians, including women, girls, men, boys and babies and lined them up and opened fire on them with a machine gun. Then those Germans expect mercy and sympathy from the Allies. They surely don't deserve it.

I am sorry but I cannot tell you anything about Owen Young, as the last time I saw him was after we came from the St. Mihiel front which was about September 19th; he was then in French motor service and I haven't heard of him or been able to locate him since then. He probably was wounded in action at Argonne-Muese as the 61st went into action October 12 and it being quite hot there we all got mixed up, disorganized. The Verdun front was sure lively and most likely he was either wounded or killed and no one knew it, as we lost quite heavily on the 13th of October. We were in an open field and the boches sent over what is called a box barrage, most feared by all the soldiers is a box barrage. You are enclosed in a square like this — (the dots represent men) and then the barrage keeps closing in on you and you have got to run or just take chances. If you get through you are lucky, that's all.

I see in the papers that they are looking into the affairs of several divisions who went over the top without proper preparations. Well it ought to be investigated. On the evening of October 11 we were given orders to go over the top at 5:45 a. m. on the morning of the 12th (my birthday.) Well we had no barrage, we had no support. The order was cancelled at 6 a. m. but it was too late, we had already started. We had no first aid, no medical men, men died on fields when they could have been saved if they could have had attendance. The first three days, October 12, 13 and 14, we never saw first aid men and those who were able to get to a station had about five miles to go and some were so weak that they failed to reach there. For six days we were there, then being all mixed up we were taken out and put into reserves. Had a little rest but many of our boys were missing and we were filled up with new men who had never been on a firing line before. Some had only been in the army two months and didn't know anything. They were willing to do and did their best but they were not familiar with the game. That was not justice or fair to them.

Well, we had about 200 men and a first lieutenant. All the rest were wounded or gassed. We went back on the 26th. We were placed in reserve as the 90th division. While here our lieutenant often said that he would never return from the

"Yes, I tried it, but I went back to Royal."

This is the experience of most women who have been tempted to try so-called cheaper baking powders which almost always contain alum and often leave a bitter taste.

CAREER OF WELL KNOWN WOMAN ENDED BY DEATH

Mrs. Margaret Lester, Aged Eighty-nine Years, Passes Away Early Today.

Mrs. Margaret Lester died this morning at 6:30 at her home on East Third street, following an illness caused by infirmities of old age. Mrs. Lester was born in Washington county, September 1, 1829, making her age eighty-nine years, seven months and one day, and was a daughter of Amos and Martha Ross. She was married to James H. Lester, who died several years ago.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Riley St. Clair of this city, and Mrs. Joseph Mohr, of Indianapolis, three sons, Dan, of Louisville, Thomas, of this city, and James, at home, twelve grand children and eight great grand children.

The funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First M. E. church by the pastor, the Rev. Chas. W. Whitman. Burial at Riverview. At the request of the deceased, friends are asked not to send flowers.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime. *Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Miller's Antiseptic Oil, Known as

Snake Oil

Positively Relieves Pain in Few Minutes.

Try it right now for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sore, stiff and swollen joints, pain in the head, back and limbs, corns, bunions, etc. After one application pain usually disappears as if by magic.

A new remedy used internally and externally for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Sore Throat, Diphtheria and Tonsillitis. This Oil is conceded to be the most penetrating remedy known. Its prompt and immediate effect in relieving pain is due to the fact that it penetrates to the affected parts at once. As an illustration, pour ten drops on the thickest piece of sole leather and it will penetrate this substance through and through in three minutes.

Accept no substitute. This great oil manufactured by Herb Juice Medicine Co. Every bottle guaranteed—30c, 60c and $1.00 a bottle at Maxon Pharmacy, Seymour, Ind.

front alive, we tried to cheer him but he said he felt it coming. And he was sure frightened by the shells. He was no coward or yellow. His name was Cecil Brux. Well about the 29th we were ordered to move forward. I was a company runner so remained with the lieutenant who was in command of the company. We were advancing over the crest of a hill when a big shell lit about fifteen feet from us. We all flopped. The Lieutenant said "They've got me." I was the first to reach him. I got to where he was. He was wounded in the back. When we pulled up his waist the blood came out as though being pumped, just like when you pump water. He fainted away. We did the best we could for him. It was one and a half miles to the first aid station. A corporal took charge of the company, we had no officers. We did not know what the orders were; what to do or where to go. We got the lieutenant to the hospital but he died, as it was too far and took about two and a half hours to get him there. Well we stayed in that place till the next a. m. starting out at 3 a. m. we were to go toward Dun-Sur Muese. We started down a hill that led into a valley. Our own artillery fighting all around through there, was falling short, so we stayed on the side of a hill. The battalion commander, Captain Olmstead, gave the corporal who had taken charge of the company, because he hesitated in going to our destination. If we had done so it would have been suicide sure as there were high explosives and also a heavy barrage.

A few days later we were taken back, given a first lieutenant for company commander and started for a town called Lion Devant, three miles across the Muese river. We had one time. Some had to swim the river as the bridge broke down with us. Had to wade water all wet, cold, we were to attack at 8 a. m. We had no artillery, no airplanes, no support, but we succeeded in taking the hill and town. But then we caught it on all sides. German airplanes would fly about 100 yards over our heads and open fire on us from machine guns. The airplanes would give the artillery the range. On November 8 a few pieces of light artillery got across the Muese and some heavy from the opposite side opened up. They fell short. Fell among our men of B. C. D. Co. killing and wounding many. We had no first aid again. We dug small holes big enough for two men to get in and keep out of observation at day. It rained all the time, soaking wet and cold, and cold grub, corn willie to eat. I was then at balloon headquarters as runner and going night and day. No rest, no sleep. Mud. But we managed to pull through and on November 10 we started toward a town called Juvegnay. Well we got upon a hill and the Germans opened up on us. Got disorganized again. Well at 3 p. m. a few, about forty with a corporal who was commanding, Capt. Starks and the battalion commander, went on to the town. It was quite large and had plenty of Germans. Capt. Starke said he was not going to lead his men into that place and sent orders to the colonel that if he wished that town taken to get some new men, that his men were all in, sick, cold, wet and unable to go any further. We pulled back into a wood. This was on the 10th of November.

The next day we were given notice to quit all firing. Were we glad? Yes, but we had no ambition left as we had been on the go since October 27th and were wet, cold and hungry. We had a hot meal and sleep which helped us. The American Red Cross, thanks to them, they deserve credit for their aid to us boys and I will always give it to them. But the Y. M. C. A. is a fake. We all did our best but do you call this right. Well, when we all get back from France, many will be put in jail for mistreating us, believe me, it will all come out sooner or later, watch and see. We did our best but we are men and should be treated as such. Not like slaves or brutes. Yes, I am disgusted with it over here. What good is it? No good at all. You do as you're told and keep quiet.

No I am not going to bring any girl back nor marry any. Not as long as I have my right mind with me. If there aren't enough girls in America that I can get one, a true American girl, I'll remain a bachelor the rest of my days. But no foreign girl. I like to be friendly with them and get acquainted with them but that's enough for me.

You talk about eggs being expensive. Well, I wish you could buy here a while. Eggs at most places are 25 cents for one, some places 20 cents, being from $2.50 to $3.00 a dozen. Soap that sells for 5 cents in America, laundry soap is 4 francs, or 80 cents, candy 18 francs or about $3.60 a pound.

Paris, April 2.—A Copenhagen dispatch today declared a general strike has been proclaimed in Berlin. The government is said to be preparing to repress it ruthlessly.

"OH BOY"

The most brilliant and charming musical comedy presented in many seasons and the fourth in the series of the New York Princess Theatre musical comedy successes will come to the Majestic Theatre Tuesday, April 8th., for one performance only.

The book and lyrics of "Oh Boy" are by Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse with the music of Jerome Kern. The score contains eighteen catchy musical compositions the most popular of which are "An Old-Fashioned Wife", "A Pal Like You", "Till the Clouds Roll By", "Rolled Into One", "Oh Daddy, Please", "Flubby Dub, the Cave-Man" and "Nestling Time in Flatbush." F. Ray Comstock and William Elliott under whose management "Oh Boy" is touring will send here a special company of favorites including Lavinia Winne, Theodor Wardfield, Helen Dubois, Anna Little, Harry Myers, Franklyn Graham, Thomas C. Leary, J. E. Rome and Johnnie Philliber.

The Honeycutt and Walls families of Heltonville were participants in a neighborhood brawl Saturday evening which lasted for two hours. The two families have not been on good terms for some time and about 8 o'clock Saturday evening under cover of darkness boys threw rocks at each house and then hid to watch the results. Both families soon appeared and the battle followed. Shots were fired and many missiles were thrown but no one was injured. It is understood that steps will be taken toward putting a permanent end to the affrays.

Run-Down People Vinol is What You Need

Weak, run-down nervous men and women need Vinol because it contains the most famous reconstructive tonics in an agreeable and easily digested form:—Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates and Glycerophosphates.

We guarantee there is no tonic equal to Vinol.

Detroit, Mich.

"I got into a weak, run-down condition, no appetite, tired all the time and headaches—but had to keep around and do my housework. I read about Vinol and tried it—within two weeks I commenced to improve, and now have a splendid appetite and feel stronger and better in every way."—Mrs. John F. Watson.

For all run-down, nervous, anemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

Texarkana, Texas.

"I keep house and I was weak, run-down and nervous, back ached a good deal of the time, so it was hard to take care of my chickens and do my work—Vinol has restored my strength, and my nervousness has gone, so I can do my work as well as ever. Every run-down woman should take Vinol."—Mrs. Emma Britt.

"Tuning Up" The Motor

YOU have noticed, of course, that there is a big difference in the way that automobiles run. Some of them get over the ground, but the motor "misses" and the power is unsteady and jerky. The driver never knows just how his car is going to behave.

Then there are other cars that fairly "skim" over the roads with the soft, purring of the motor. You have noticed that such cars respond promptly and easily to the touch of the driver. There is always plenty of power for speed and hills.

The difference in the machines is the way they are adjusted.

Our mechanical experts know just what your car needs so that it will run with the responsive, purring sound.

Mr. A. H. Wagner, who served the government as a motor expert during the war, is at the head of our mechanical department. He has a personal knowledge of all makes of cars and can tell you just what is wrong with your machine.

On March 24 we will have two new mechanics so that your work can be done promptly. Bring your cars around and let us inspect them for you.

We can make it as easy for you as anybody.

By a "high-grader" we mean a watch that is scientifically designed, and made with extreme care by skilled workmen using the most costly materials.

It is plain to anybody that a watch like that has got to cost some money.

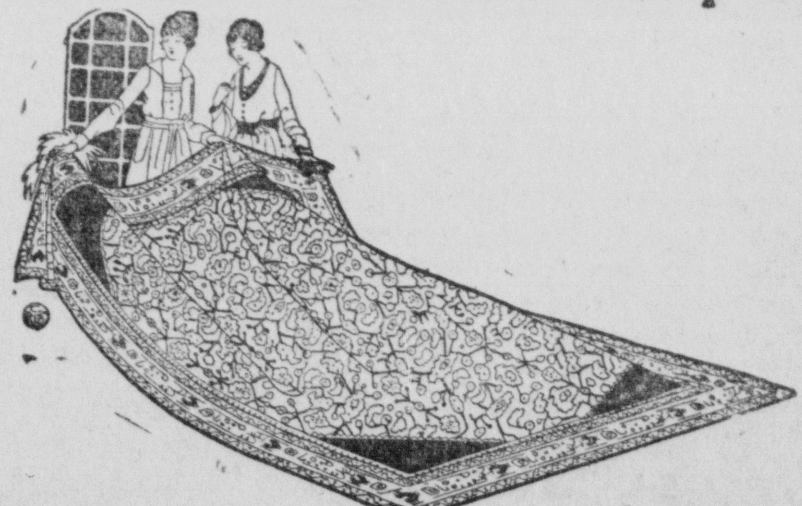

But it is a great comfort to its owner. It's an article of personal adornment, and a constant, life-time servant both in one.

We would very much like to display our watches for YOUR examination.

ACTS OF INTEREST TO LOCAL WOMEN

Last Legislature Gave Them Right to Vote for President in The Election in 1920.

SECURITY BY MARRIED WOMEN

They May Also Borrow Money on Their Own Note When It is to Be Spent for Their Use.

Women in Seymour and Jackson county are interested in a number of laws which were passed by the recent Indiana legislature which bestowed upon them several rights which they have not enjoyed heretofore. A hard fight was made by the women of the state for some of the enactments which were passed while others were passed without their solicitation.

Probably the women are interested in the laws which give the right of the ballot more than in some of the other enactments. The legislature passed a law which gives the women the right to vote for president in the election of 1920 and a resolution for an equal suffrage amendment to the federal constitution was also adopted. Another amendment asking congress to submit a suffrage amendment to the federal constitution was adopted.

Women are granted the right to vote for president by house bill No. 63 which also provides for the registration of women voters.

The law provides for separate ballot boxes for women citizens in each election precinct. It also provides for the separate registration of such women in the same place and manner as other voters.

Senate enrolled joint resolution No. 30 would amend Section 2 of Article 11 of the state constitution to read as follows:

"In all elections not otherwise provided for by this constitution, every citizen of the United States, of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, who shall have resided in the state during the six months, and in the township sixty days and in the ward or precinct thirty days immediately preceding such election, shall be entitled to vote in the township or precinct where he or she may reside."

This proposal must be ratified by the next legislature before it can be submitted to a vote of the people for approval.

Under house act 104 which repeals section four of the act of 1881, women are given the right to act as security. The section repealed follows:

"A married woman shall not enter into any contract of suretyship, whether as indorser, guarantor, or in any other manner, and such contract as to her shall be void."

With this provision repealed a wife may go on anybody's note.

House enrolled act No. 219 repeals the law of 1903 relating to loans made to married women. The 1903 law provides that any married woman who executes a promissory note or other evidence of indebtedness and gets the money, and states under oath in writing the purpose for which the borrowed money is to be used, "and if such affidavit shall show the same to be for her own separate use for the betterment of her property, or separate business, she shall not be permitted thereafter to claim that such loan was made for the benefit of any person other than herself."

House enrolled act No. 127 amends Section 2 of the law of 1901 concerning the conveyance of land by husband and wife where either is insane, by providing that whenever "the real estate of a person insane or of unsound mind, or incapable of managing his or her estate or business affairs because of old age, infirmities, improvidence or being a spendthrift, such person, having a husband or wife who is of sound mind, shall be sold, under a valid order of court by any guardian, commissioner or other officer of court, the husband or wife of such person may join in such deed, or may make his or her own separate deed to the grantee named in the deed of such guardian, commissioner or other officer, and the execution of the deed in either form shall have the same effect as would the joint deed of the husband and wife both being at the time of sound mind and competent to convey real estate." The law is now in effect, as it has an emergency clause.

Senate enrolled act No. 83 amends the board of children's guardians law of 1901 by providing "In all cases where the said board deems it advisable and for the best interest of such child or children.

ENTERTAIN LADIES' SOCIETY.

The Loyal Devoir Society of the Central Christian church entertained the members of the Ladies' Society Tuesday at a social meeting held at the church. The affair was arranged to extend a greeting to the pastor's wife, Mrs. W. E. Carroll, who recently came here from Shelbyville. Following the regular short business session, the following program was given:

Organ solo... Mrs. Harold Stewart. Reading, "Unfinished Music"... Miss Myrtle Hunnington. Vocal Duet, "Beautiful Ohio"... Mrs. Lester Connerley and Miss Elsie Reynolds.

"Loyal Devoir Eight Years Ago"... Miss Grace Love. "Loyal Devoir as It is Today"... Mrs. F. W. Wesner.

A story, "The Joy of Service"... Mrs. Elmer Day. Vocal solo, "Tumble Down Shack in Athlone"... Miss Fay Parker.

Reading, "As the Moon Rose"... Miss Grace Love.

This was followed by short addresses by Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. R. R. Keach, Mrs. Wm. Wells and Mrs. Della Brown, after which the guests were invited to the basement where a two course luncheon was served.

The committee having charge of the arrangements consisted of Mrs. Clifford Kern, Miss Myrtle Hunnington, Mrs. Scott Everhart, Mrs. Elmer Gorbett, Mrs. John Due, Mrs. Elmer Day, Mrs. Melvin Jerrrell and Mrs. Lem Day. An out-of-town guest at the meeting was Mrs. Wm. Wells, of Columbus.

ENTERTAIN AGENDA CLASS.

Sixteen members of the Agenda Class of the Trinity M. E. church were present Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Louisa Nieman, South Walnut street, where they were entertained by the members of the Friendship Circle. The evening was spent with music and games including several "April Fool" jokes and refreshments. A short address was given by Rev. Wm. Weiler, pastor of the Trinity church, on the proposed addition to the church. Later in the evening a light luncheon was served. Bouquets of spring flowers were used as decorations.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Miller, Miss Louisa Nieman, Mrs. Ernest Crum, Mrs. Arthur Livensparger, Misses Evelyn Becker, Inez and Irene Pfanning, Elsie Miller, Edna Kasting, Elma Naffe, Maude Ruddick, Grace Miller, Maude Owens, Bertha Schmidt, Mabel, Edna Louise and Kathryn Hodapp, Marie and Ruth Pfaffenberger, Pearl Kruwell, Nancy Hintzen, Eva Thicksten, Gracia Hauenschild, Beatrice and Leona Schneek.

have continually showed lack of force and qualities of leadership, until the people no longer have confidence. Still no one moves, and the great middle class is idle, while politicians struggle with the radical group which wants to overturn the entire order of society.

Occupation of Berlin by Allied troops has changed steadily from a dread to a hope, perhaps, that English and American troops would take the place of Allied troops. For some reason, opinion has turned against the French and the majority of Germans would rather see Berlin sink worse into chaos than have the French help, if you can believe what Berliners tell you.

The populace and the middle class as well as a number of intellectuals and the commercial people, want American and English troops here. The change of opinion is probably due to lack of confidence in the Government. Troops from Hindenburg at the front are the only hope from within Germany. So far the front troops have done their duty until women and children among the sight-seers mingled with the fighters, when the front troops retired refusing to endanger women and children. Propaganda usually demoralizes Government troops soon after they arrive, so that probably the largest portion of Berlin feels the only dependable troops to bring order are outsiders.

It is surprising to find the majority of the revolutionaries, especially the sailors, in favor of occupation. "We will welcome Americans and English," they tell you. "We're waiting for them. We want order, too, but it can never come without either a dictator or else outside help. We have no leaders now that we can follow."

The opinion that a dictator could restore order and enable the working out of a government is quite universal, but no men loom up as possibilities worthy of consideration, except Hindenburg. Hindenburg has never mixed into politics, and men in Berlin who know him well say he would never consent to take over the dictatorship of Germany.

It may provide that such child or children may be placed under the care of their mother and that she shall be allowed such compensation therefor as the board may fix, not exceeding the legal per diem for each child allowed for the care of the wards of such board."

House enrolled act No. 40, the regular appropriation bill, contains a proviso in the appropriations for the state industrial board as follows:

"That the industrial board of Indiana, with the consent and approval of the governor, shall create a department of women and children and shall appoint a competent woman as director of said department, such woman to have such assistants as in the judgment of said industrial board and the governor are necessary for the proper performance of the duties as such director."

This provision was deemed advisable because of the increasing number of women in industry.

Senate enrolled act No. 366, creating an employment commission, says that one of the members shall be a woman.

House enrolled act No. 155 provides that the governor shall appoint a commission on child welfare and social insurance within sixty days after the law takes effect. The commission is to consist of five persons, "at least two of whom shall be women and two of whom shall be parents." Within ten days after the commission is appointed it shall meet in Indianapolis and organize. Its duty is to investigate child welfare and social insurance and report its findings and recommendations to the governor on or before December 1, 1920. It is also to draft bills to carry out its recommendations. An appropriation of $5,000 is made, to be available beginning May 1, 1919.

BERLIN IN UPROAR DURING BOLSHEVISM'S STRUGGLE

Spartacans Use Tactics Similar to Those of The Early American Indian.

(By Frank J. Taylor, United Press Staff Correspondent)

Berlin April 2—Bolshevism's recent struggle in Berlin was in many ways like an American Indian war carried on in a modern city, if you can imagine that. The Spartacus group went on the war path after the fashion of prairie tribes in America three generations ago. In their fighting the Spartacans showed about the same degree of civilization as did the Indians.

To understand how such a warfare could take place in a modern city one has to realize that Berlin was harboring many convicts released from prison by the turn of the earlier revolution. Most of these desperadoes are not political victims, but were palled for killing and robbing. Since they had everything to gain and nothing to lose by the bolshevik movement, they leagued themselves with the Spartacus group and for good pay were ready to commit any outrage prescribed. The bolsheviks were simply wild men running riot.

After the Government's volunteer army had defeated the organized Spartacus resistance, trouble did not stop. Spartacans lurked in hundreds of buildings, more or less fugitives from justice. From roofs, behind chimneys, from attics and windows, they sniped at Government guards and even civilians, with no chance of accomplishing anything other than killing.

In the course of a day's work you would run into three or four or possibly half a dozen of these outbreaks or street fights, as they were reported in the papers. At the first shots, crowds would dive into doorways. The incident ended with a few shots from the Government troops to restore public confidence and the crowd went on about its business. Berlin's population soon became accustomed to the outbreaks. Not infrequently huge crowds would gather to watch movements of the Government troops against the Spartacans, and persistently stuck around to see the show. Hundreds were injured solely due to curiosity.

More than four-fifths of the Spartacan prisoners captured in the uprisings were deficient, either mentally or physically or both, according to experts who are investigating the bolsheviks. The discovery may lead to some important conclusions regarding bolshevism in general. According to the doctors examining the prisoners, the Spartacans are weak, mostly from under nourishment and some chronically, and they are not in a condition to be responsible for their east and should not be at large.

The German Provisional Government is inclined to accept the views of the scientists, and will keep this in mind in the trials and punishment of the lawbreakers.

Revolutionary outbreaks in Berlin drop upon the city like lightning. It is impossible to foresee them. They just happen, when the situation seems entirely unencouraging to them.

Berlin's revolution is different from others in that there is no united demand for any one thing. There are as many demands as there are Germans in Berlin, and some people have more than one. Until agitators begin their work there is practically no action. Thus Berlin is filled with crossing currents of opinion, with each faction not knowing just what it wants. Factions seize upon any pretext for a demonstration. There is no clean-cut issue which unites Berlin into parties. A strong royalist attempt to regain the government would probably unite Berlin and save the revolution. The majority stands on the sidelines, watching agitators toss the revolution up and down, to no one's gain and Germany's danger.

Germany's lack of leaders has been one of the most outstanding features of the revolution. In the hour when Germany needs big men, none has been found. The situation seems to be brought about by the old system, when leaders, as soon as they were recognized as such, were hustled into the Junker party. They became Junker leaders and most of the men capable of governing were in the party.

The result is that Germany finds herself with second rate men trying to construct the new republic. They

CHAPTER XXIX.

A Glimpse of Freedom.

The siding was deserted. The Palmyra had run out to Tucson. Marshall had gone without apprehension. They did not expect now to have setbacks, to have to extend the time set for the ultimate diversion. The days were flowing like oil. The encampment was filling up with visitors, newspaper men who came to report the spectacular capture of the river.

Rickard's day badly begun, piled up with vexations. By sundown, he was wet to the skin, and mad as a sick Arizona cat.

In this jaundiced juncture, Mac-Lean, Jr., brought down his dispatches to the river. He read of the burning of a trainload of railroad ties Rickard swore.

"Anything else pleasant?"

"A letter from the governor—from dad." MacLean read that his father begged a small favor of Rickard.

"Godfrey, the celebrated English tenor, is on my hands. His doctors have been advising outdoor occupation. I am sending him to you, asking you to give him any job you may have. He is willing to do anything.
Put him at something to keep him occupied."

MacLean saw Rickard's face turn red. "Suffering cats! A worn-out opera singer! What sort of an opera does he think we're giving down here?
Why doesn't he send me a fur coat, or a pair of girl twins? Give the tenor a role! Anything else? Pile it all on."

"Oh, and one from Godfrey himself.
He's in Los Angeles. He says he'll be here tomorrow." He did not wait for his chief's reply.

At the supper table, Rickard, dry and in restored humor, alluded to the invasion of high notes. "Pity the parts are all assigned! The only vacancy is in the kitchen. I wonder how he would like to be understudy to Ling!"

The next day when the incident had been forgotten, and while Rickard was up at the Crossing on the concrete gate, Godfrey blew into camp. He was like a boy out on a lark. His brown eyes were dancing over the adventure. He explored the camp and came back bubbling.

"It's the biggest I ever saw. But say,
Junior, that's what they call you,
isn't it? I'm the only idle man here.
Can't you give me something to do?
I'll do anything. I'd like the boss to find me busy when he comes in."

MacLean softened the offer. Perhaps until Mr. Godfrey learned the ropes he could be of general use. They were short-handed the present moment—there was another hesitation—in the kitchen! Ling, the Chinese cook, was overcrowded—so many visitors—

"Great," crowed Godfrey, slapping him on the shoulder. "I don't want to feel in the way. I want to earn my board. Lead me to the cook!"

That evening, the dinner was helped on its way by the best-paid singer of England. In an apron, borrowed of Ling, he was "having the time of his life." Ling, pretending to scold, had been won immediately. Rickard, hearing of the jolly advent, forgot his vexation, and immediately on his return made his way to the mesquit inclosure
—to greet the friend of George Mac-Lean.

After dinner, MacLean carried off his prize to the Delta, where Godfrey earned his welcome. Gerty Hardin forgot to flirt with the engineers; she had discovered a new sensation. The wonderful voice twisted her heartstrings; it told her that the heart that nastruly loved never forgets, and she know that she could never have really loved, yet, because the youth in her veins was whispering to her that she could still forget. Godfrey saw a mobile plaintive face turned up to the gibbous moon; he swept it with thrills and flushes. She was a wonderful audience; she was also his orchestra, the woman with the plaintive eyes. He played on her expressions as though she were a harp.

Later, he was presented to Mrs.
Hardin. She told him that the camp would no longer be dull; that she had tea every afternoon in her ramada.
She convicted him archly of British-hood. "She knew he must have his tea!"

"You American women are the wonders of the world! Nothing daunts you.
In the desert, and you give afternoon teas. I'll be there every day!"

He gave her open admiration; she looked young and wistful in her soft flowing muffs, the moonlight helping her. She fell into a delicious flurry of nerves and excitement. Later, she wandered with him from a rude gaping world into a heaven of silvered decks and gleaming waters. He told her of himself, of his loneliness; his music had dropped him to self-pity.

Gerty Hardin heard her bars drop behind her. She snatched her first glimpse of freedom.

West Plains, Mo.—"I was all run down in health, had indigestion and terrible cramps every month so I was unable to do anything.
I had tried every doctor in West Plains, also every remedy I could think of, without relief.
One day when I was suffering greatly a friend was at my house and said,
'Why don't you try
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I did, and through it, I found relief from my suffering and I really believe it saved my life. It does not seem as though I can say enough in praise of this wonderful medicine for the health it has brought me."—Miss CORA LEE HALL, West Plains, Mo.

Perhaps it may seem an extravagant statement to say that this great remedy saved a life; but women like Mrs. Hall, to whom it has brought health, appreciate the danger and suffering they have escaped too well to doubt it! All who suffer should try it. Why risk life and health without it?

Revival Meeting.

The revival meeting at the A. M.
E. church is growing. Extra seats were put in last night and more seats will be put in today so those who were turned away last night will find seats tonight. The duet sung by Miss Frieda Wagner and Miss Ault was well received. Mr. Ed Southerland sang an old fashioned song which caused the folks to take a shout. Seekers are at the altar services each evening. Evangelist Clark will sing tonight the beautiful old song, "In the Garden." Meetings at 8 o'clock new time.

Miss Frieda Aufderheide spent today in Indianapolis.

GREEN FANCY

A STORY
OF INTRIGUE
AND MYSTERY

By GEORGE
BARR
McCUTCHEON

DEEPLY absorbed in the thrilling details of the plot, entirely oblivious to all his surroundings, this reader is following the developments of one of the best mystery stories yet penned by that star of fiction writers, George Barr Mc-Cutcheon. You will be equally interested in the new serial we take pleasure in announcing.

Green Fancy

is a strange, hidden house on the American border of Canada. In and around it royal personages, third-rate actors, a New York man of the world, a beautiful woman, an Irishman of fortune, an international crook, all play their parts in an exciting drama of European intrigue. It is a story of many dramatic incidents, exciting situations and touches of splendid humor.

MRS. U. F. LEWIS NAMED MEMBER OF SCHOOL BOARD

Former Seymour Woman is Honored by Second Term in The Redlands, Cal., District.

Mrs. U. F. Lewis, formerly of this city, has been honored by the voters of the Redlands, Cal., school district by being chosen for a second term as a member of the school board. She had no opposition. An editorial published in the Redlands, Daily Facts, a copy of which has been received by Mrs. Seba A.
Barnes, North Chestnut street, will be of interest to the many friends of Mrs. Lewis:

Redlands school district electors will tomorrow choose a successor to Mrs. U. F. Lewis as a member of the board of trustees of the district.
Mrs. Lewis, at the universal request of a well satisfied constituency, is a candidate to succeed herself. She should be the only candidate and undoubtedly will be elected.

It was somewhat of an innovation locally, when a woman was first chosen to sit upon the school board—Mrs. U. F. Lewis was the first to be so honored in Redlands. We have gotten quite accustomed to seeing women in positions of responsibility in connection with our schools, it being generally recognized that the school department offers a place most appropriate for women to so serve. This county has a woman as county superintendent of schools, and another as deputy. Their work had been so well done that there was no disposition to make a change at the last election, when county officers were chosen for new terms.
Redlands was a little slower than some other communities to place a woman on the local school board, doubtless owing to our well known conservatism. But when we did make the break we chose well and Mrs. Lewis has amply justified the confidence placed in her industry and in her ability.

The desire that she continue her work for the community in this place is general. It is a position without special honor, and entirely without remuneration. The only compensation the office holder receives is in a satisfaction of duty well performed.
To this at this time we would add a generous need of appreciation on the part of the people. To Mrs. Lewis has come an opportunity to work in a field that has much of usefulness to the community. We hope it is congenial to her and that she will continue to serve us and to honor us as well as herself as a school trustee for at least another term.
